

OSMOS

STATION

24 Railroad Ave
Stamford, NY 12167
osmos.address@gmail.com
M 917 362 5415

Kevin Claiborne
black revolt, 2021
archival inkjet print, 30h x 24w in

Kevin Claiborne at OSMOS Station

Saturday July 2nd - Sunday July 17th

Reception with the artist:

Saturday, July 2nd, 2-6pm

OSMOS Station is happy to announce an exhibition of works by its current artist-in-residence, Kevin Claiborne.

Claiborne is featured in OSMOS Magazine Issue 22 and in our current exhibition, back & write at OSMOS Address in New York City, open by appointment in July.

Kevin Claiborne (b. 1989) is an American multidisciplinary conceptual artist, whose work examines intersections of identity, social environment, and mental health within the black American experience. His show at OSMOS Station represents Kevin's interactions with and responses to the environment of rural upstate New York, and continues to develop his practice focused on photography, collage, and sculpture.

OSMOS Station is a community-oriented artist studio, residency, and gallery in the Western Catskills of New York with a commitment to bringing artists to the region, as well as offering vocational workshops to foster skills and new possibilities in Delaware County.